¹ Plan-Specific Tools

Plan specific tools include the health plans' web portals, such as Blue Links for Providers, HPHConnect, NHPNet and Tufts Health eAccess™. These transaction-based tools can be accessed at no cost. Inquire directly with health plans for technical requirements, which vary across plans.

² NEHEN

NEHEN Classic- The New England Healthcare Exchange Network is a consortium of payer and provider organizations in Massachusetts, which has created a single gateway for revenue cycle electronic transactions, including individual and batch eligibility verification. NEHEN membership fees apply. Technical requirements include connectivity to payers (via VPN, frame relay or internet access), ability to generate HIPAA compliant files for batch eligibility, to receive and post HIPAA compliant remittance and optionally to create HIPAA compliant transactions for routing to payers.

NEHENNet- another service offered by the New England Healthcare Exchange Network (NEHEN). An affordable solution, geared toward allowing small to mid size provider groups access to a single gateway for revenue cycle electronic transactions, including individual and batch eligibility verification. Because NEHENNet is maintained on NEHEN's server, there are no additional hardware or maintenance costs. Flat monthly rates apply, based on provider size. Technical requirements include a high-speed internet connection only.

³ Emdeon Office

Emdeon Office is a web-based tool sold by Emdeon® Corporation, allowing transaction and file inquiries. Transaction fees may apply. Internet access is required.

⁴ Interactive Voice Response (IVR)

IVR is a telephone technology, whereby callers follow computer-generated voice prompts to access or provide information. Health plans may offer an IVR tool as an alternative to web-based technologies. No costs apply.

⁵ Fax/Email/Provider Service Center

Electronic channels are the fastest and most accurate way to verify eligibility. Some health plans may provide eligibility information via their Provider Service Center telephone line, e-mail or fax.
